CCC COMPANY WILL REMAIN AT PALO DURO

Orders Cancelled Friday
for Disbanding of Company on First of January

WORK TO CONTINUE

National Park Men on Trip Here Approve a Number of Projects—
Bryan to Austin

Orders were received Friday that CCC Co. 2876 was not to disband,
but would continue at the Palo Duro State Park.

Two weeks ago the company received orders that on January 1st
the organization would be discharged, some of the men being transferred to Co. 2875 and the balance transferred to other companies in the state. This order was in keeping with the reduction order by the President in CCC workers. Since the Palo Duro is the only place in Texas with two companies it was natural that the first reduction in Texas should be made here.

Assistant Regional Director Al-
cott of Oklahoma City and State Inspector George Nason of Austin
had spent Wednesday with Supt.
Louis J. Bryan who had impressed them with the large amount of work available for the two companies for the coming year. A large number of projects were approved while they were here, and final drafts were made of the cabins to be erected near the lodge.
Soon after the army had notified
Captain Adair that the company was not to disband as first planned, the National Park Service notified Mr. Bryan of the decision to keep the men here indefinitely.

D. E. Colp wired Mr. Bryan to come to Austin where plans will be made to get a number of projects under way. Mr. Bryan is expected to spend the holidays in Austin and Temple during which time
many of the CCC men will be away on the annual Christmas
leave of absence.

As a result of the change in plans to continue both companies
here, it is expected that the foremen who were released last week at Hereford will be transferred to Palo Duro. Mr. Bryan will probably be able to start the New Year with two full companies as well as have a full company of foremen and other assistants.

Bridge Steel Is Stolen Recently From Co. Bridge

Approximately ten days ago ninety feet of bridge steel was stolen from the county bridge north of the depot. Workmen were repairing the bridge and in the process of widening it had taken the steel off.

The steel is of much value to the county and no questions will be asked if the steel is returned to the bridge; otherwise prosecution will follow.

James T. Coffee Died This Morning With Funeral Today

James Thomas Coffee, 57, died this morning at 4:00 o'clock at the family home on Sixth Avenue after an illness of several months.

at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon at the Methodist Church, conducted by Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum. Interment will follow in Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of the Griggs - Thompson Funeral Home.

The death of Mr. Coffee takes from the community one of the pioneers. Canyon has been his home for forty-four years. Until recent years the firm of Coffee Bros., contractors, were connected with practically all of the building done in Canyon. Mr. Coffee was a member of the Methodist Church.

The thirty-fourth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Coffee was celebrated on Nov. 17th.

Surviving is the widow and one son, Herschel Coffee; mother of the deceased, Mrs. T. D. Coffee;
four brothers, S. S. Coffee, Carl D.
Coffee, D. M. Coffee, all of Ama-

Story of Wheat to Be Shown at Texas Centennial in 1936

The Panhandle section of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will present the story of wheat at the Texas Centennial at Dallas
when the big show opens in June.
This decision was reached Friday
when a meeting was held in Amarillo attended by representatives of 36 towns.

Wallace R. Clark, director of the Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. T. V. Reeves represented Randall county in this meeting.

Randall county is said to have produced the first major wheat crops of the Plains in 1906. At the present time 97% of the wheat raised in Texas comes from West Texas.

THIRTEEN PAY FINES

8 Game Roosters Found Killed as Result of the Fights—20 Will Fight
Gaming Charge

Sheriff Bob Barnett and deputies raided a cock fight at the Harding Ranch Sunday afternoon, arresting 51 men and 8 women who were watching the game birds fight. Thirteen men plead guilty Monday and paid a fine. Others promised to be here Tuesday and settle with the officers.

J. Frank Norfleet of Hale Center, noted detective and man hunter, was among those taken in the haul. He was with the first group which plead guilty to the charge.
A group of about 20 have employed an attorney to fight the charge.

Sheriff Barnett received a tip
that the fight was to be staged and walked up on the crowd before being detected. Eight of the game roosters had been killed in the fight. About 40 game cocks were in crates waiting to be used in fights.

The cocks in the ring when the officers appeared were properly equipped with the steel knives which are attached to the legs in place of spurs, after the spurs have been cut off. Several of the dead cocks were brought to Canyon as evidence that the fight
had been promoted.

It is reported to officers that cock fights have been held in a number of towns in Northwest
Texas in recent months.

Those arrested who do not enter the plea of guilty will be bound to await the action of the grand jury in January.

Santa Claus Gives Away 300 Pounds of Peanuts to Children

The Christmas campaign of the business houses of Canyon came to a close yesterday.

Santa Claus was on the street
six days and distributed 300 pounds
of peanuts to the children.

This gift of the business houses
to the children was highly appreciated and many children expressed their thanks for the manner in which Santa remembered them.

Employment of Men and Women Under WPA Is According to Needs Found By Officers

The News has received a communication from WPA offices at Amarillo that a protest has been made against the employment of certain individuals in Canyon.

The following was a written protest, with the names of the parties
deleted:

"If you will look around here in Canyon, you will find plenty of 'unfair' work going on here. Why & how can we drive a team on the WPA projects here and his wife work in the sewing room?
Also _____ who draws and has drawn government compensation

the WPA and his wife works in the sewing room, and the _____ family here has the father on WPA and the single boy who lives at home

amount of the cases here in Canyon."

The following is a brief resume of the activities of WPA which might aid in clarifying certain phases of the work that apparently have been misunderstood.

SERIOUS ACTION

Chamber of Commerce In Resolution Regarding Improvements Possible In Canyon

Friday was a big day in Canyon
so far as the official family was concerned, as students of the high school filled all of the school, county and city offices. The students took their jobs seriously as they performed every duty in the day's run of business.

Arrests were made, with the prisoners taken before the proper court officials, sentences were imposed, and prisoners in jail were cared for in the usual manner.

Discipline was imposed by the school superintendent, while collections were made at the city hall
of taxes and water bills, and state and county taxes were collected at the court house.

The Chamber of Commerce had a busy day in investigating affairs of the city and writing recommendations.

The entire project was supervised by Supt. Irby Carruth in order that the students might get a clearer insight into the workings of the local governments.

Those who served in various capacities were:

Lesly Mae Furlow, school superintendent.

L. E. Lisle, sheriff.

R. E. Prichard, deputy sheriff.

Sewell Cox, constable.

Pauline Harris, justice of the peace.

Overton Donnell, county judge.

O. D. Brietling, mayor.

Herbert Mariner, chief of police.

George Mayfield, night watchman.

Ray Ford Rusk, president Chamber of Commerce; Jack Middleton, vice president; Nelson Robinson,
secretary.

Billy Greenfield, county clerk.

Jean Slack, County treasurer.

Joe Morris, county attorney.

Jack Middleton, county agent.

Mary Ella Davis, city clerk.

Mildred Shuman, home demonstration agent.

The following recommendations were made by the Chamber of Commerce:

1. That more business firms support in a financial way the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

2. That the city pave all busy cross streets.

3. The city pave the street running in front of the high school.

Rapid Progress to Be Made in Build- ing of Rock Walls

Under the direction of Gus Miller, six local rock layers and six from Amarillo are laying the rock walls of Buffalo Courts and the fence around Buffalo Stadium.
The Amarillo men were started to work Monday under WPA.

It has been unofficially announced that reductions in WPA will start on March 15th. With this in mind, the six men from Amarillo were started Monday in order to insure that all of the rock walls be completed before any reduction was started.

Mr. Miller completed all of the foundations for the rock walls last week and is superintending erection of the walls. He has had charge of all of the rock work so far completed on the campus.

IS THERE A SANTA CLAUS?

"Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?" Thirty-eight years ago, Virginia O'Hanlon, then eight, wrote to the editor of the New York Sun to settle the doubt which comes to all little boys and girls at some stage of their lives.

The letter was received by Edward P. Mitchell, then in charge of The Sun's editorial page, who turned it over to his associate, Francis P. Church, to answer. In his "Memoirs of an Editor," Mr. Mitchell writes that Mr. Church at first pooh-poohed the idea, but finally, turned to his desk with an air of resignation.

"In a short time he had produced the article which has probably been reprinted during the past quarter of a century, as the classic expression of Christmas sentiment, more millions of times than any other newspaper article ever written by any newspaper writer in any language. Even yet no holiday season approaches without bringing to the newspaper requests from all over the land for the exact text for repeated use on Christmas Day." The article appeared originally on September 21, 1897. Mr. Church died in 1906, after having contributed to The Sun's editorial page for thirty-five years. The Virginia whose query gave rise to the classic is now Dr. Laura Virginia Douglas, an assistant principal in the New York public school system.

The answer she read in The Sun is reprinted here by permission:

Is There a Santa Claus?

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun:

"Dear Editor—I am 8 years old.

"Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. 'Papa says 'If you see it in The Sun it's so.'"

"Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?" "Virginia O'Hanlon, '115 West Ninety-fifth street.'"

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

The prevailing question is: Are conditions really improving? The stock market which saw a gradual increase during all of this year has slipped day by day during the past two weeks. While buying has improved in many sections, the annual Christmas rush has been less in most places than was expected. Predictions for the future coming from industrialists are not so bright as they were a few months ago. In years past business was afraid of presidential election years. Then business decided that it had been seeing ghosts, and that business on election years should be as good as any other year. Big business is firmly opposed to the re-election of Roosevelt. It may be that big business has taken definite steps to see to it that the President is not re-elected, or at least to contribute its part in frightening the people. Queer tactics are often used in political campaigns.

Who would be willing to spend $2,500,000 in advertising a product and not be able to see any special results? Not many companies would have so much nerve, and to continue advertising. Yet a well known manufacturing company reports to have spent this amount of money on a new product which they are marketing, and have decided to spend $1,500,000 more during 1936 in trying to sell the nation on their product. They have faith in the goods, and will go the limit in advertising. Too many small business men believe that if they spend a dollar in advertising that they should immediately reap a return of two dollars. Advertising to be effective must be continuous and in a recognized media. The newspaper is the best media, which Canyon merchants should use liberally during 1936.

made at Perryton. The experts say, no. Probably they are guessing like those who guess, yes. At any rate there is a tragic waste of natural gas going on in the Panhandle which should be stopped. Those of this generation who profit a few dollars by this waste are depriving future generations of their fuel supply. The waste should be stopped, regardless of whether it is causing the drought.

It looks a little strange to see the daily newspapers of Texas flooded with whiskey advertisements. From four to six ads appear almost daily in towns which have voted in favor of the sale of liquor under the new law. This is a repetition of the manner in which beer was advertised in Texas after the voters approved the return of beer. The brewers are taking advantage of the situation and will push their sales as rapidly as possible.

Some people are able to adapt themselves to any circumstances. They even make themselves at home in their own homes.

All Kinds Of INSURANCE AND BONDS

O. W. GANO

Representing one of the largest American Companies.

The News extends greetings on this Happy Christmas Day, and wishes for each and every one of its readers congratulations for being granted the privilege of living in this great American nation. Those who have passed through the past trying years and have been able to maintain their health have much to be thankful for. The wealth that many have lost counts for little as compared to a strong healthy body. 1935 has been filled with many trials for most of us. Fortunately the New Year offers new opportunities, a new realm of activity, and may it bring each and every one new ambitions to perform to the best of our ability. Merry Christmas to all.

Both Republicans and Democrats received quite a political jolt in the election of a Townsendite to congress from Michigan. This candidate defeated both regular party men by a large majority. Townsend claims to have a sufficient following to swing the congressional elections next year in favor of the $200 per month pension. Regardless of how crazy the plan seems from a financial standpoint, those who hope to profit by this pension shut their eyes to the problem of raising the money to pay the pensions. But the Townsend plan is something that is going to cut a big figure in next year's campaign.

Does the popping off of gas in the Panhandle cause the drought? A study of this problem is being made.

Abroad, Manuel Quezon became first president of the Philippine commonwealth. Plebiscites awarded the Saar back to Germany, his former throne to King George II of Greece. The Stavisky state pawnshop scandal rocked France, as did Germany's rearming.

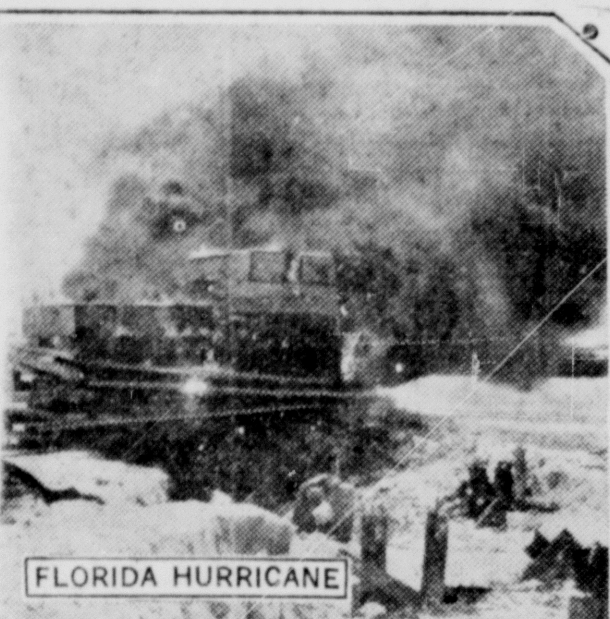

Loyalists put down a Greek revolt; and trouble threatened in China, where a new pro-Japanese state made up of North China territory was proclaimed. In Canada, John Buchan became governor general.

There was only one major American kidnapping. For the $200,000 abduction of George Weyerhaeuser, Jr., lumber heir, Harmon Waley was given 45 years in jail; his wife 20.

Many notables passed away. Among them were Evangelist "Billy" Sunday; Frank J. Navin, head of the Detroit ball club; ex-Supreme Court Justices Oliver Wendell Holmes and Sanford Church; Scientist Michael I. Pupin; Richard B. (De Lawd) Harrison; Thomas A. Edison, Jr.; Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate; De Wolf Hopper, actor, and Jane Adams, famed social worker.

Outstanding abroad were deaths of Queen Astrid of Belgium; former Archduke Leopold of Austria; Marshal Pilsudski, dictator of Poland; Andre Citroen, French industrialist; Lord Byng of Vimy, World War hero; Lawrence of Arabia; and Col. Alfred Dreyfus, famed French plot victim.

KIDNAP VICTIM POST CRASHES ROGERS PASSES LONG SLAIN AWAITS DEATH

Recalling principal news events of 1935, pictures above show: left to right, above, infantryman on Ogaden front and funeral pyre on which were cremated bodies of 46 of the 300 war veterans who died in the Florida hurricane; below, left to right, George Weyerhaeuser, Jr., Wiley Post, Will Rogers, Huey Long, and Bruno Hauptmann.

WAR captured a lion's share of 1935's headlines. Bowing himself off the stage in the settlement of the long-drawn-out Bolivian-Paraguayan affray, grizzled old Mars pranced right back on with Italy's Ethiopian campaign.

But domestic events ran him a close second. The Hauptmann trial, culminating in the sentencing to death of the German carpenter for the kidnap-murder of Baby Lindbergh, was one. The tragic death of Comedian Will Rogers and Aviator Wiley Post was another. And the assassination of Louisiana's "dictator," Senator Huey Long, likewise stunned the country.

As usual, there was no dearth of disasters here and abroad. Perhaps the most tragic, in the United States, was the death of 300 war veterans in a hurricane which swept the Florida Keys and buried the liner Dixie on a reef.

And, throughout the year, a toll of some 200 lives was claimed by a Pennsylvania mine explosion, a Texas tornado, a Utah oil well dynamite blast, and numerous eastern and western floods. More than 1000 quakes rocked western Montana, and dust storms choked and paralyzed the midwest.

Shocking disasters occurred overseas. An earthquake killed 20,000 at Quetta, India, while Formosan and Persian tremors claimed 5000 lives. Two thousand died in a Haiti hurricane; and an Italian dam burst, drowning 600.

In a happier vein, we find many evidences of progress on land, water, and in the air.

The world's greatest ship, Normandie, made her maiden voyage to New York in record time.

In outstanding air achievements, the China Clipper launched commercial trans-Pacific air service; Capt. Stevens and Anderson, after one failure, reached a record altitude of 74,187 feet on a stratosphere flight; Jimmy Doolittle and Pilot Leland Andrews spanned the continent in record time; and the Keys brothers set a new refueling endurance mark.

Three aviatrixes demonstrated that woman's place can also be in the air: Amelia Earhart made two remarkable hops, Hawaii to California and Mexico to New York, N. J.; Laura Ingalls spanned the U. S. in record time, and Jean Batten flew the South Atlantic solo. Early this year, Admiral Richard E. Byrd returned from his Antarctic expedition.

But aviation progress again took its toll: Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, British air ace, vanished in his England-Australia hop; U. S. Senator Bronson Cutting died in a plane crash, and the dirigible Macon was wrecked over the Pacific.

Political and economic events manufactured potent news. Samuel Insull was acquitted. In Washington, Roosevelt vetoed the bonus and signed the social security bill, a proclamation freeing the Philippines, a U. S.-Canada trade treaty, and a neutrality law, besides launching $1,880,000,000 work relief measure.

Abroad, Manuel Quezon became first president of the Philippine commonwealth. Plebiscites awarded the Saar back to Germany, his former throne to King George II of Greece. The Stavisky state pawnshop scandal rocked France, as did Germany's rearming.

Loyalists put down a Greek revolt; and trouble threatened in China, where a new pro-Japanese state made up of North China territory was proclaimed. In Canada, John Buchan became governor general.

There was only one major American kidnapping. For the $200,000 abduction of George Weyerhaeuser, Jr., lumber heir, Harmon Waley was given 45 years in jail; his wife 20.

'Bridging of Bay' Nears Reality

The long-awaited bridging of San Francisco bay was nearing reality when a photographer snapped this scene, revealing but a narrow gap between piers of the cantilever span on the east section of the great San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge. The cantilever span, shown in foreground, partly built, will be 1400 feet long.

Student Describes Christmas of Mexican Kiddies

"I remember, as a child, standing by my father, watching them in amazement as they filled into the small store," said the co-ed.

"Gimme Christmas! Gimme Christmas!" Those pleas, as the ragged little urchins reached out grimy, greedy hands for the small bags that the kind store-keeper and his wife handed out to them on Christmas Eve, still ring in my ears.

Miss Dorothy Nelle Kinkead, W. T. student, reveals the story of the Mexican children's Christmas in a small town in New Mexico.

The co-ed spent four years of her school life there and over half the time, was the only white girl in the two-teacher school of about fifty pupils.

"Now, in school," says Miss Kinkead, "we usually had a tree and a program. The black, brown, and some even blue eyes, of those little Mexican children would sparkle eagerly when gifts of candy, horns, and fruit were given out."

"I've often wondered just what they had for their Christmas dinners. Probably the usual meal of tortillas and beans."

"They don't celebrate Christmas

like we do. Most of them are poor and just what they have learned from the ways of the white man's Christmas, seems to be the only significance.

"I suppose if I enter the store this Christmas Eve—I haven't for several years—I'll again hear these words, 'Gimme Christmas. Gimme Christmas.' Small hands will grasp the bags tightly as the doors close behind them."

Complete Water System Planned at T-Anchor Farm

The T-Anchor ranch is soon to have a modern water system. Material for the water tower was given to the college farm by the Phillips Petroleum Company.

Prof. T. M. Moore states that when the water system is completed it will supply the four houses in which the forty farm boys live, and the dairy. In addition, it will provide enough water to beautify the premises.

The high tank holds 10,000 gallons, and a ground tank holding an equal amount is being provided.

Mr. Moore states that lawns and shrubbery will be planted and a border of trees will be placed along the west fence. Salt cedar trees in great numbers will be used for screens on the premises.

An electric refrigerator and aerator have also been installed at the college dairy and it is expected that the bacteria count of the college milk supply will be greatly lowered. It has never been high, according to Mr. Moore.

Another improvement which is underway at the college farm is a sewerage system. Septic tanks are being constructed for each house. The sewerage will be used in sub-irrigating a portion of the college farm orchard.

Rural Electrification Speeds to Bring Farmers Valuable 'Wired Help'

"THERE'S no reason why city people should continue to monopolize the benefits of electricity. Arise, farmers, if you, too, want to share in science's great boon."

This, in effect, is the appeal of the Rural Electrification Administration as it moves forward rapidly in its drive to bring the magic genie to some million and a half more farm people, within the next year. To enlist farmers' co-operation, the REA points out some enlightening facts:

Electricity, which has made possible our mighty industries, is by no means limited to the city to perform its miracles. It is equally able to run many appliances which can make agriculture as efficient and productive as the steel or textile industries.

Electricity supplies ready, controlled power valuable on dairy, poultry, truck, and fruit farms in particular. It is sure, constant, and convenient. It gives heat or cold. It is easy to control and to use. It is sanitary, safe, and odorless.

Electric milking machines, milk coolers and other equipment, REA points out, enables the dairy farmer to market his product in Grade A condition, thus bringing higher prices and meeting strictest food laws. Electric water and ventilating systems keep cattle barns clean, light, and airy.

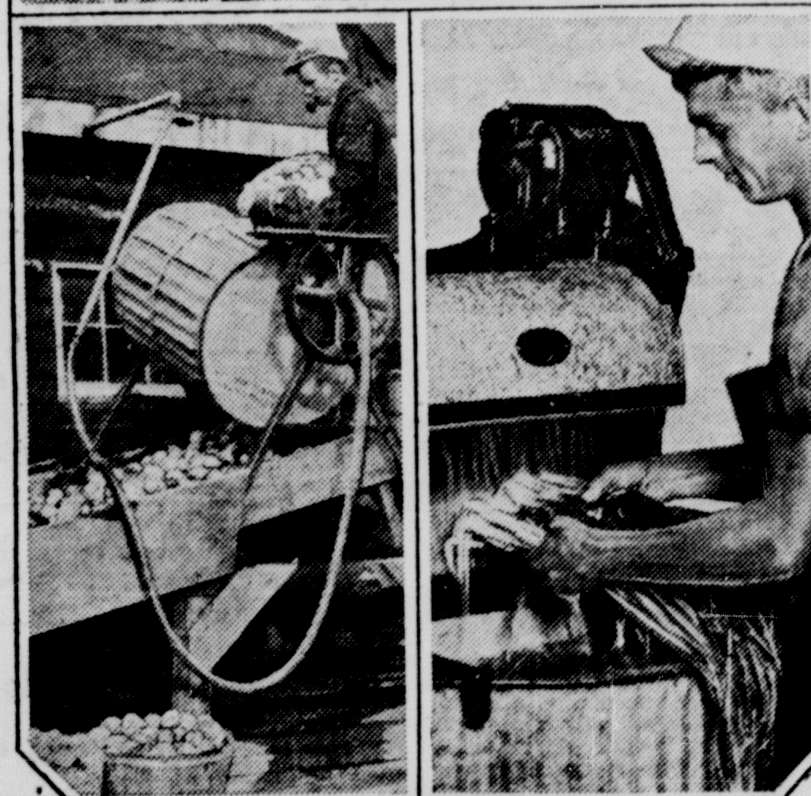

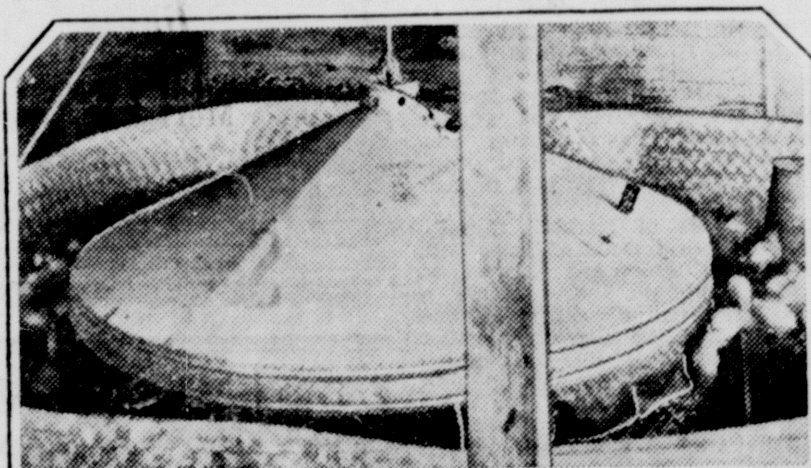

Every poultry farmer knows that fewer culls result when incubation heat is controlled and uniform, such as that provided by the turn of a switch. Careful use of lighting in the henhouse increases winter egg production.

If lights are turned on for an hour in the early morning and again in the evening, the fliers and broilers will get up and eat. Result: they grow more rapidly.

ON the farm, as in the great cities, the problems of water supply and waste disposal are solved effectively with electricity.

The truck and hothouse farmer, too, needs power, points out the REA. By heating his soil, he can assure year-round production of many seasonal garden vegetables.

Electric sterilizers destroy scab

and fungal growths in the soil that can be removed in no other way. And an electric pump can supply the necessary steady flow of water for irrigation.

For the fruit grower, electricity can be used for supplementary irrigation, electric sprayers, fruit washers and graders.

However, the most appealing

use for electricity is its power to eliminate drudgery on the farm by doing the heavy and monotonous daily chores. The farmwife, for instance, can be spared many trips to the well. Her washdays no longer will be the dreaded bugaboo of her week. And good light adds immeasurably to the cheer and comfort of home.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

CHRISTMAS would be just like any other day in the year if it were not for kind thoughts and deeds—for cheery words spoken and efforts put forth to make others happy. This good season, when gifts are given—when happy thoughts enter our minds, when we are filled with a spirit of gladness and a desire to give all these elements of the Yuletide heightened charm.

LIKEWISE our business would be just like any other business were it not for the hundred and one things, small and large, which help to make our business a pleasure to us and, we trust a source of satisfaction to our patrons. Aside from the business we have transacted during the year now drawing to a close, we list among the achievements accomplished the forming of new friendships and the strengthening of the ties which held our old "stand-bys." We find pleasure in going to particular pains to supply our patrons with courteous and efficient service in order that we may give complete satisfaction.

WE WISH YOU ALL THE JOY OF THE CHRISTMAS SEASON.

"YOUR ELECTRIC SERVANT"

Mrs. Page Ends Work House of Fellowship

Seven Years of Service
Closed Witnessing a Large Scope of Student Activity

The second chapter in the history of the Little House of Fellowship at Canyon was completed Dec. 20 when Mrs. Elizabeth Fry Page, its hostess, left to make her home in the East.

For seven years Mrs. Page has lived in the Little House, entertaining in that time 10,000 guests, ranging from homesick freshmen to distinguished visitors in the city.

The first chapter in the history of the Little House and Protestant Episcopal student work in Canyon dealt with Mrs. E. H. J. Andrews who was first student councillor for the church in Canyon and at the West Texas State Teachers College. The present Little House was at that time only a dream.

A Dream Fulfilled
In January 1929 Bishop E. Cecil Seaman made a recommendation that a center for student work be built at Canyon. The recommendation was adopted and on May 1 ground was broken. In October the House was occupied and on Nov. 26, 1929 it was formally opened.

It was Mrs. Page who turned the first sod in the ground breaking ceremony, and David Thomas, retired sailor, old time cowboy and senior warden of the Canyon Church who removed the second shovelful.

Throughout the summer of 1929 carpenters and brick masons and plumbers were busy erecting the Little House. When, on Oct. 26, it was opened, Bishop E. Cecil Seaman, presided. T. C. Thompson, Mayor of Canyon, spoke. Miss Virginia Elliott of Spur and Marie Dodgen of Groom represented the students of the college. Dean R. P. Jarrett, Dr. C. A. Pierle, and Miss M. Moss Richardson represented the Administration of the college. Miss Sadie Anderson represented the Canyon Public Schools, and Miss Mattie Mae Swisher spoke for the other churches of Canyon. 259 people inspected the shining Little House during the afternoon and evening.

Since its opening this student center has been a busy place. There has been a "heap o' livin'" in it. It was not long until a marriage took place there. Pearl Davis of Silverton and Jack Coffey were the bride and groom. They now live in Amarillo and ten days ago they and their children again visited the place where they had plighted their vows. Tragedy stalked very near the little house when Mrs. Page was overcome by gas a few years ago. Perplexity has been there many times as when a boy came to discuss the question of emersion, and when countless young men and women have come to ask questions regarding etiquette or vocation. There has been gaiety furnished around the tables of chili suppers, waffle breakfasts, at teas, parties, and get acquainted programs. The house has been a refuge. It has been a point from which baskets have been distributed at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Hundreds of magazines have been given students to supplement their meagre personal libraries.

The Little House of Fellowship has been, since its beginning, a headquarters for high aspirations and friendly co-operations. The College International Relations club met there until it outgrew the space available. The Students Religious Council has held a monthly meeting there for several years. The Young Women's Christian Association has used it, and nearly every organization of Canyon young people has met there at some time or other.

Its guest book reveals the names of many notables of the Protestant Episcopal Church and other guests from all over the United States. There are the signatures of Bishops Clinton Quinn, of Houston; Irving P. Johnson of Denver, E. C. Seaman of Amarillo, of Grace Lindley of Washington, National Secretary of the Women's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church, of Elizabeth Beecher, Educational Secretary, of Helen Whitehouse, field secretary, of Dean Newell of Berkeley, and many others.

Usefulness Has Increased
According to Mrs. Page, the Little House of Fellowship has grown in usefulness each year. This growth she attributes to the fine support which Episcopal

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Tigers' Series Victory, Ruth's Exit, Joe Louis' Phenomenal Rise, Omaha's Track Feats, Moody Comeback, Were Top Flight 1935 Sport Events

BY PHILIP MARTIN
THUMBING over pages in our record book of sports for the year 1935, a few events stand out in bold relief. Here they are:

BASEBALL: For the second consecutive year, the Detroit Tigers, led by peppery Mickey Cochrane, battled their way to the front of the American League procession and went on to annex the world series, the first in the modern diamond history of Henry Ford's ballclub. To win, however, they had to subdue a tough Chicago Cub outfit, which came from nowhere in the early stages of the race and on the wings of a 21-game winning streak, a new major league mark, forged to the top in the National League scramble.

Babe Ruth finally bowed to Father Time, bringing to a close the most glamorous career in diamond annals. Lou Gehrig replaced him as highest salaried star, when he signed a contract for $30,000 with the Yankees.

Preparing for the 1936 season, the Boston Red Sox spent $300,000 of Tom Yawkey's millions for Jimmy Foxx, first baseman, and Johnny Marcum, pitcher, both of the Athletics; and W. O. Briggs, the Tigers' new owner, bought Al Simmons, Chicago White Sox outfielder, for $75,000.

FOOTBALL: Among the major eleven of the nation, Minnesota, Princeton, and Southern Methodist carved for themselves niches in the grid Hall of Fame by going through the season without a reverse.

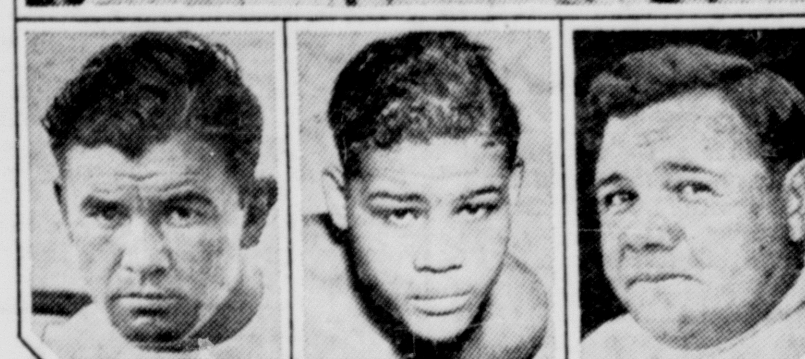

The most brilliant individual performance of the year was turned in by Jay Berwanger, University of Chicago halfback, who cut capers on midwestern gridirons despite a weak supporting cast.

BOXING: The fickle heavyweight diadem once again changed hands, flitting from Max Baer's curly mop to the cranium of Jimmy Braddock, ex-stevedore.

The old year saw Joe Louis, dusky Detroit battler, ascend to the position of foremost heavyweight challenger over the prone figures of Maxie Baer, Primo Carnera, and Paulino Uzcudun.

HORSE RACING: Omaha cornered the major 3-year-old honors, reaping a bumper monetary crop from the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, and Belmont Stakes. Harness racing's premier attraction, the Hambletonian, was taken by Greyhound.

TRACK: Jesse Owens, Ohio State brown streak, smashed three world's records—broad jump, 220-yard dash, and 220-yard hurdles—and equalled another, the 9.4 standard in the century, at the Big Ten's Ann Arbor conclave.

TENNIS: Helen Wills Moody defeated Helen Jacobs in the Wimbledon singles. Miss Jacobs, however, landed the U. S. women's tennis singles for the second year.

Wilmer Allison astounded the tennis world, upsetting Fred Perry at Forest Hills in the semi-finals, then pushing on to beat Sidney Wood and win the U. S. national single.

GOLF: Sam Parks, Pittsburgh linksman, won the National Open, and Lawson Little firmly established himself as kingpin of U. S. and British amateurs, scoring repeat victories in both events. Johnny Revolta won the P. G. A.

WRESTLING: Erin's gift to the mat game, Danno O'Mahoney, supplanted Ed Don George as New England champ, and Jim London, recognized elsewhere, by downing both.

AUTO RACING: Kelly Petillo won the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

On the salty flats of Utah, Sir Malcolm Campbell, British sportsman, hung up an auto speed mark of more than 304 miles an hour.

Tee for Two

Apparently, Hollywood's younger set is going in for golf in a big way. As evidence, Darla Hood and "Spanky" McFarland, two of filmland's more youthful notables, are shown enjoying a session on the links.

Dishonesty pays until you get caught—and there are few who escape.

Where G. O. P. Will Convene in June

Near the shore of Lake Erie, Cleveland's huge Public Hall, shown above, will house thousands of shouting, cheering delegates and visitors this summer during the Republican national convention, opening June 9. At the G. O. P.'s Washington meeting the Ohio city was chosen as the convention site after its backers pointed out that, unlike Chicago or Kansas City, Cleveland was situated in a neutral state which had no candidate for the presidential nomination. In full charge of arrangements for the convention is Henry P. Fletcher, right, chairman of the Republican national committee.

Simplicity

The motif of simplicity is increasingly evident in the wardrobe of the well-dressed woman. This influence is revealed in the charming two-piece frock of light blue crepe, worn by Actress Claudette Colbert. The deep blue corsage of carnations at the shoulder, the kerchief at the throat, and the pert pancake hat accentuate this simplicity.

Another advantage women have over men is that women don't have to worry about their skirts getting baggy at the knees.

No one ever gets much for his second hand car if he lets his conscience fix the price.

"Liberty League Bunch Scorched" By Editor White

"It would bring tears to the eyelids of a brass monkey to hear these Eastern Liberty Leaguers agonize over a proposed change in the constitution," says William Allen White in his Emporia (Kansas) Gazette. The widely known editor adds:

"To hear the Leaguers rave, one would think the Constitution was petrified, that it never could change. Yet, eight short years ago these selfsame friends of a castiron constitution were yelling their heads off, demanding a change in the constitution as it affected the prohibition of the sale of liquor. More than that, most of them openly violated and angrily advocated violation of the provision of the 18th amendment, which was as much a part of the constitution then as the 14th amendment with its sacred clauses protecting property is a part of the constitution today.

"Don't get the notion that the demagogues are always flannel-mouthed yappers who incite the poor to treason. The fact that a man wears a plug hat and a watch chain over his white vest doesn't keep him from being a demagogue, teaching bitter class hatred to solidify the rich and turn them against the poor.

"Don't be fooled by men whose record as paralyzers of the constitution is so raw and so recent. The American constitution is the wisest charter of liberty ever written.

"But part of its wisdom lies in its flexibility. We have amended it 21 times, and probably in the next decade will add two or three new amendments, and still the flag will wave."

Midget Airplanes Make Debut

Two midget planes have been introduced to the American public to recent weeks. "The Flying Flea," above, a French invention, was tested on Long Island. A tandem biplane 10 feet long, with a two-cylinder engine that develops 16 to 20 h. p., the Flea can be built at a cost of about $400 and flown from instructions contained in a book. The flivver plane shown below, built by Hayden Campbell, World War pilot, carries two passengers, is propelled by an automobile engine, can fly 125 m. p. h., and get 22 miles on a gallon of gas, according to its builder. It was built at St. Joseph, Mo.

4. That the city keep the alleys cleaner and provide more facilities for removing rubbish from the alleys.

5. That the city co-operate with the Federated Clubs and other agencies in securing for the children of Canyon a park equipped with a swimming pool and other adequate facilities. This project should be supported by all citizens interested in the welfare of our town. The young people of Canyon have little opportunity to play and enjoy themselves at home and find it necessary to go elsewhere for their amusement and recreation.

6. That the rural and professional business men of this town become more acquainted with the city of Canyon and keep the trade at home.

WPA Denies

United States, through the inauguration of the present Works Program, is endeavoring to restore to the destitute wage earner a certain portion of his earning powers without interfering with the normal operations of private industry.

Within the organization of the Works Progress Administration, a Division of Labor Management has been established, the duties of which department are to place and keep employed eligible for work on authorized WPA projects. By the phrase "eligible for work" is meant those workers who have been certified to the WPA through the relief organizations as being in need of employment. All persons who receive public relief on or before November 1, 1935 are eligible for work on WPA projects except those persons serving current sentences to penal institutions, and those persons whose age or physical condition would prevent their doing a normal day's work. Discrimination because of race, creed, or politics is forbidden.

Realizing that the income of one wage earner in some families is insufficient, a National Youth Program has been incorporated within the activities of the Works Progress Administration upon which are employed youths between the ages of 16 and 25 whose families are, or were, on the public relief rolls, the earnings of which are one-third of the security wage paid to the adult employable member of the family. Only one youth from each family is allowed to work on WPA projects but the employment of another member of the same family does not preclude placement of the youth on the works program.

The private employment of one member of the family does not cancel the eligibility of another member of the same family for employment on the Works Program; for that reason, the simultaneous employment of two members in one family, one in private employment and the other on WPA, might easily occur.

Mrs. Bill McClendon of Clovis is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Loudner.

Guests today in the R. O. Johns home are Mrs. Mary J. Davis, mother of Mrs. Johns and her sister, Mrs. P. Ridens of Ft. Worth.

Donald Wineinger of S. M. U. will vacation with home folks. He arrived home Sunday.

Units Completed By 3B, 4A With Tea For Mothers

Two major units of work on Switzerland and Transportation have been completed by 3B and 4A.

While developing the units on transportation, the children used the information in making two class scrapbooks. In one book they put information about traveling. The other is composed of free-hand drawings, stories, and poems. Using the information gained in studying about the Swiss people and their country, the children built two small houses to represent two types of Swiss homes. One is a herdsman's mountain home; the other is a village chapel. The children painted a scene of Swiss mountains, forests, and roadways to be used as a background for the houses.

Class Arranges Exhibit
The class arranged an exhibit of its work and gave a program for the parents and friends last Friday.

They sent paper cars as invitations. Inside the cars, was a poem inviting the parents to attend the program.

On the back of the programs was a Swiss scene. The class sang songs, gave talks on transportation and on Switzerland, and told stories.

The favors were Swiss flags made of red and white crepe paper stuck into marshmallows. Refreshments were served of open-faced sandwiches of Swiss cheese on snacks with an olive in the center, cookies, oatmeal, and marshmallows.
